The Wild Doves At Louis

The Wild Doves at Louis Trichardt - William Plomer Morning is busy with long files Of ants and men, all bearing loads. The sun's gong beats, and sweat runs down. A mason-hornet shapes his hanging house. In a wide flood of flowers Two crested cranes are bowing to their food. From the north today is ominous news. Midday, the mad cicada-time.

The Wild Dove (also known as The Wood Dove; Czech: Holoubek), Op. 110, B. 198 (1896), is the fourth orchestral poem composed by the Czech composer, Antonín Dvořák. Composed in October and November 1896, with a revision in January 1897, the premiere was given on 20 March 1898 in Brno under the baton of Leoš Janáček. The story is taken from the poem of the same name from Kytice, a ...

The Wild Dove - Wikipedia

Like rodents, doves reproduce at a high rate and live only a short time and have a high mortality rate. Only 40 percent of doves hatched in a given year survive until the next breeding season. Thus doves are an important part of the food chain, conveying nutrients produced by plants along to the many carnivores that prey on the doves.
